Withdrawal Percentages

At the time of purchase, you will be assigned a Withdrawal Percentage that's based on your age, or the age of the youngest spouse if electing the spousal benefit option.

The applicable Withdrawal Percentage is multiplied by your total Purchase Payment(s) to determine your initial Guaranteed Income Amount.

Guaranteed Income Amount
$100,000 Total Purchase Payment(s)	X	7.5% Withdrawal Percentage	=	$7,500 Initial Guaranteed Income Amount

DAILY Growth

Every day that you delay starting income means more guaranteed income for life. Your Guaranteed Income Amount grows daily by the 8.50% annualized simple fixed rate, referred to as the Income Growth Rate, until you are ready. This gives you the flexibility to start income, known as Lifetime Withdrawals, any day of your contract year AND still receive all lifetime income growth up to that point.

Income Growth Rate Credit
$7,500 Initial Guaranteed Income Amount	X	8.50% Income Growth Rate	=	$638 Per year credited daily That's $1.75 a day

Your Account Value is also guaranteed to grow every day during the seven-year Initial Crediting Period by a fixed 2.50% Interest Crediting Rate that is compounded and credited daily. This hypothetical example assumes an individual at age 65. Please note some values have been rounded down for illustrative purposes.

Income Control and Flexibility

Daily Advantage Income is flexible enough to change with you as your retirement income needs evolve. You control when you start income, and after you've started, you can adjust how much you receive from your available Guaranteed Income Amount each year. Whatever you don't take is automatically carried over into future years and is yours to use how and when you want, whether you take it through withdrawals or choose to use it as a one-time increase to your Guaranteed Income Amount.

The annual benefit charge for the Guaranteed Lifetime Withdrawal Benefit for both single and spousal options is 0.95% of the Account Value on the contract anniversary.

Annuities are issued by Pruco Life Insurance Company.
